How to Fight the High Cost of Living

Laughing Lines and How to Treat Them—Cleansing Cream—Massage Cream—General Debility—To Reduce the Face—Falling Hair—How to Make Floor Wax—Tomato Mince-meat—Cherry Ice—Corn Pudding.

LAUGHING LINES.
Yes, keep on laughing for that will help to keep you young even if it does make a few lines. You can treat the lines but a woman afraid to laugh about as attractive as a wooden woman. To massage the face, use a rotary upward and outward movement and use the massage cream given below. First, use the cleansing cream and after it is wiped off you are ready for the massage; twice a week is usually enough. Use the cleansing cream every night before retiring. Use the same massage cream and the same rotary motion on the hollows of the neck.

Cleansing cream:
Oil of sweet almonds..... 4 ounces
White wax..... 1 ounce
White vaseline..... 1 ounce
Extract of violet..... 10 drops
Massage cream:
Oil of sweet almonds..... 3 ounces
Cucumber juice..... 1 ounce
Cucumber juice..... 2 drams
White wax..... 2 drams
Spermaceti..... 30 drops
Flucture benzoin..... 30 drops
Oil of rose..... 10 drops

GENERAL DEBILITY.
General debility requires a good physician. Perfect rest and freedom from all care would of course be a good thing, but you also require medical care and tactful, cheerful companionship. Don't let all your friends and relations ask how you are every day. Try to forget your ailments and yourself all you possibly can. A change of air is beneficial.

TO REDUCE THE FACE.
The safest and best way to reduce the face is by vibration. You should use the vibrator. Dress the hair low on the neck and not too broad. Wave the hair lightly, part it in the center and bring it down over the ears as close to the head as possible to look well.

FALLING HAIR.
Shampoo the hair before the first application of the tonic. When the hair is dry separate it and rub the tonic on the scalp with a tonic brush or a piece of absorbent cotton. Then massage the scalp for ten minutes. Repeat the treatment every other day until the hair ceases to fall, then once a week. Always rinse thoroughly.

Hair Tonic.
Cocoon oil..... 6 ounces
Jamaica bay rum..... 2 ounces
Oil of bergamot..... 30 drops

RECIPE FOR WAXING FLOORS.
Melt a scant half pound of beeswax in a pan of hot water, add gradually, stirring well, a quart of turpentine, and when mixed a half cup of ammonia. Cover the saucpan containing it closely and set the outer vessel of hot water at the back of the stove to heat for ten minutes. Apply warm with a piece of flannel and polish with a rough cloth.

TOMATO MINCEMEAT.
Use any amount of green tomatoes. Chop them fine and scald them in their own juice, with salt sprinkled over them. Drain them and put in as much good vinegar as there was of juice drained off; add the same quantity of sugar, of chopped apples, of raisins, and of currants, and spices to suit the taste—Kindness of Mrs. N. B.

CHERRY ICE.
Scald one quart of ripe blackberries and squeeze out the juice. Measure the juice and allow an equal amount of water and sugar. Boil the water and sugar together for five minutes, skim and cool. Add the cherry juice and the juice from one lemon. Freeze either hard or soft, as desired. It may be served in tall glasses with half a peach on the top of each service.

CORN PUDDING.
Dilute three level tablespoons of corn meal with one-half cup of cold milk. Stir this into two cups of milk scalded over hot water. Stir until mixture thickens, then remove from fire. Add three-fourths of a teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, one tablespoon of butter, one-half can chopped corn and two eggs well beaten with salt. Mix thoroughly and bake one hour; set in a pan of water in the oven.

FUNERAL OF THE MOTORMAN IS HELD

With hundreds of friends and relatives in attendance, the funeral service for John M. Sherman, the motorman who died as a result of injuries sustained in the Ogden canyon wreck, were held yesterday afternoon in the Tenth ward meeting house, with Bishop T. T. Terry officiating.

The Woodmen of the World, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body with the band. The Woodmen delegation marched with the cortege to the cemetery. Tributes of respect to the life of Mr. Sherman were paid by Bishop James Taylor, Bishop M. L. Jones, Alex. Hogan and George Barker. Duets were given by the Misses Verna Rhodes and Marie Cowe and by the Misses Leona Brown and Elizabeth Norseth. Lawrence Greenwell gave a solo. Interment was in the city cemetery.

RINGLINGS TO SHOW HERE.

Will Give Two Exhibitions in Ogden on Saturday, August 2.

It is announced officially today that Ringling Brothers' circus will give two performances in this city on Saturday, August 2. In addition to their always interesting and up-to-date show they will present a newly added spectacle, "Joan of Arc," employing 1,200 people, several hundred horses, a ballet of 300 dancing girls, and a trainload of special scenery and stage properties. The production takes place on an immense stage in the main tent. Chicago praised the spectacle unreservedly when the show opened there at the Coliseum in April. Nothing like it has been seen on the road. The expense of devising and producing it was enormous.

Aside from the grandeur and beauty of this spectacle there is much in the regular circus performance to thrill, astonish and amuse, for there are among the 375 performers a host of foreign artists who have not been seen in America in the past and who are displaying novelties new in this country. Prominent among the star performers, new to the Ringling show, are the Balkan troupe of sensational riders, the Janowsky family of novelty acrobats, the three Jahns, European balancing ladder experts, the Lorber troupe of human jugglers, the Portia women contortionists and the famous Marylands, acrobatic spring-board specialists.

The foreign agents of the show are an unusually energetic and progressive set of men. They have stripped Europe and Asia of all its best talent for this year's tour of America. And fate was kind to them. Last winter was an unusually productive season in Europe in the way of novelties. They were all secured. The cost of this importation of talent would bankrupt any other show in America.

Meantime in the tropics of South America, India, Africa, squads of trappers searched the forests, jungles and overglades in search of curiosities. In Africa the chiefs of several savage tribes were induced to leave their people behind and help to entertain the United States. Also a great many curious specimens of animal life fell into the nets of the expedition.

This wonderful organization is hailed from town to town on an eighty-five mile railroad car, making a train over a mile in length. The train is divided in five sections. The daily expenses of the show are $7,500. There are 650 horses and 1,000 wild animals. It takes fourteen acres of canvas to house this big family.

In the forenoon of show day the new parade will give some idea of the money that has been spent in reorganizing the circus for this season. It is the most magnificent the Ringlings have yet given and there are three miles of it.

GOULD ROADS TO MAKE CHANGES

The Western Pacific railroad, the "Gould" outlet to the Pacific coast is to lose its identity as a managerial unit and pass under control of the Denver and Rio Grande, thus establishing, through the Missouri Pacific one management for Gould roads west of the Mississippi river, according to announcement made in San Francisco yesterday.

Correspondence given out at the offices of the Western Pacific, in the coast city together with an official statement, shows that E. T. Jeffery, president of the road, retires, becoming chairman of the Board of Directors, and C. H. Schlacks, vice president, who has been in immediate control, resigns from his position and also from the directorate of the Denver and Rio Grande. B. F. Bush, president of the latter road, is to become president of the Western Pacific, and it is reported that he will have charge of all the western Gould lines. Probably E. L. Brown, vice president and general manager of the Denver and Rio Grande will be moved from Denver to San Francisco to run the Western Pacific.

Mr. Schlacks in his letter of resignation to the Rio Grande board of directors as his reason, the change in operative management.

POISONED DOPE FOR THE HOPPERS

Dodge City, Kansas, July 14.—Nearly one thousand Ford county farmers were up early this morning, each with one hundred pounds of poisoned bran, to fight the longlegged pest which has done so much crop damage in this vicinity in the last three weeks. For lack of a better name, the poison is referred to as "grasshopper dope."

The county commissioners authorized the trustees of the township to distribute a quantity of grasshopper poison to every farmer in the county who would avail himself of the opportunity to make the experiment. This was the day named on which an organized fight against the pest should be begun.

SAD ENDING TO UTAH ROMANCE

The Standard recorded the elopement from Salt Lake of Herbert Frank and a Beaver county girl and their marriage in Ogden last Monday. Here is the sequel to the story as reported in a Salt Lake paper:

"Live rattlesnakes will not be accepted in lieu of cash payment for food and lodgings at the Hotel Utah, as Herbert Frank, a Chicago advertising agent, learned simultaneously with his departure from the hotel and the breaking-up of a romance with a young woman from Beaver.

"Upon a 'show-down' for the hotel's room and restaurant charges, Frank was able to produce only a live 'rattler.' He allowed he was particularly fond of that 'rattler' but was willing to forego its possession if the hotel insisted on it.

"He had lost the young woman of his choice because angry and determined relatives had snatched her away, so what was parting with a rattlesnake more or less.

"John T. Wenne, assistant manager of the hotel, said the hotel was not collecting rattlesnakes and demanded something more negotiable.

"The hotel manager said there was no demand whatsoever for 'rattlers' and the hotel would find the zoo a white elephant.

"Frank was in a quandary. The reptile represented his sole capital. He appealed, in his predicament, to the relatives of the young woman and they, in more of a desire to rid these parts of unwelcome suitors for the girl, paid his bill.

"Wherefore the Chicago man took his broken heart and his reptilian associate off to Los Angeles."

TIRE OF ROUTINE LIFE ON BORDER

Washington, July 14.—Evidently weary of the routine of drills and maneuvers in a flat, hot and uninteresting country, many army officers attached to the Mexican border are clamoring for relief.

The latest objection to the retention of the camp is the alleged danger of its being drowned out during the hurricane season, which the officers assert, seems to be due every third year. Secretary Garrison has made two investigations of General Carter's camp, both resulting in favorable reports upon the location. He will make a personal investigation, however, during his approaching tour of inspection of western army posts.

JAPAN GIVES CUP TO U. S. CRUISER

Washington, July 14.—While diplomatic Washington is conjecturing the voluminous correspondence between the United States and Japan, the two countries by alternately extending courtesies to each other, are keeping the curious ones completely in the dark as to the real situation regarding the California controversy.

During the last few weeks the United States has officially welcomed a dozen or more Japanese visitors, some of whom even were here to sound public opinion as to the anti-alien legislation which caused the stir. Now the Japanese government has presented the United States cruiser Charleston with a silver loving cup.

In August 1910 there was a flood in Tokyo and the officers and men of the Charleston and the cruisers Saratoga and New Orleans, which were near the stricken city, raised a fund which was sent ashore for the relief of the sufferers. The incident was forgotten until Ambassador Chinda sent the cup to the state department with a request that it be forwarded to the Charleston.

T. J. RACKHAM BURIED ON SUNDAY

Funeral services for Patrolman Thomas J. Rackham were held at the Fifth ward meeting house yesterday afternoon, with Bishop H. C. Jacobs officiating. The police, veteran firemen and representatives of the sheriff's office attended in a body. Herbert Anderson, city jailer, arranged the musical program.

The residence, 762 Twenty-seventh street, was crowded with hundreds of friends and relatives before the services in the chapel. The police and veteran firemen marched with the hearse from the home to the meeting house and from the meeting house to the cemetery.

Commissioner T. S. Browning gave the opening prayer at the services. The speakers were Thomas E. Browning, Chief of Police W. I. Norton, George Larkin and Thomas Shreeve. George Shorten offered benediction.

"A Good Death," by Gries, was played by a string quartette. Mrs. W. S. Jones and Mrs. Tillie Poulter gave a duet and solos were rendered by Miss Irma Browning, Miss Carrie Browning, Miss Elsie Shorten and Mrs. Lorene Farley Snyder.

The pallbearers were T. E. Browning, Sergeant Mohrman, Patrolman Marlin, Hutchens, Russell and Sergeant. Deputy Sheriff's Compton and Ellsworth. T. B. Wheelwright dedicated the grave in the city cemetery.

ROW OVER WATER IS NOW ENDED

Boise, Idaho, July 13.—By a compromise reached late Friday night between state and federal authorities, the water dispute over the contents of the Boise river has been ended, at least for the time being. This came only after Watermaster Elias Marsters had cut the chains which held the locks of the headgates on the New York canal, a government project, and turned the waters of the river free.

For this action suit has been filed against Marsters by attorneys for the reclamation project, including the United States district attorney, asking that he be enjoined from further interference and for $10,000 per day damages for such time as the water flows unrestrained through the headgates.

Marsters and G. H. Bliss, project manager for the United States government, agreed on a compromise under which Uncle Sam will turn 30,000 inches of water a day from the Deer Flat reservoir through two canals lower down on the river in exchange for a like amount to pass through the New York canal. The government is now irrigating $3,000 acres under this system.

The canal, which is ten miles east of this city, is now the property of the federal government, a part of the great Arrow Rock system that is to reclaim upward of 200,000 acres in Ada and Canyon counties.

Last week the water in the Boise river went down so fast that some of the canals ran dry and a cry went up from the settlers. Then it was that Marsters, who, under the state law, has charge of the distribution of irrigating water in this district, discovered that the New York canal was running at full capacity, and that the government was selling water to outsiders at the rate of $424 a day. He went at once to the headgates to regulate the flow and relieve the condition further down on the river.

At the government dam he was met by Mr. Bliss, who told him he had no authority there, that the best thing he could do was to keep away from the government property and that if he undertook to close down the gates at the intake he would do so at his own risk.

Manager Bliss took the position that while the priority of water rights on the river had been established by the courts, the duty of water or the amount to be used had not been determined by the courts, but that what was done he was entitled to all the water he could use to advantage.

There are 135 decrees on the river in all, and that of the government under which Mr. Bliss was making this claim was No. 131. Some of the filings on the river date back to 1860.

Commissioner Marsters at once submitted the matter to Attorney General J. C. McLaughlin for instruction. He was told that Manager Bliss had no rights whatever in the premises, that he (Marsters) should perform his duties as water commissioner and make the proper apportionment of the flow of the river and if necessary smash the locks on the headgates at the intake to the New York canal.

This Commissioner Marsters proceeded to do Friday afternoon. Armed with the necessary tools, he went to the government dam, cut the chains that held the locks and turned the water out of the canal and into the river. Bliss offered no resistance.

TEACHERS' LEAGUE AFTER PENSION LAW

Salt Lake, July 14.—According to Miss Leida M. Mills of Wichita, who took a prominent part in the department meetings of the convention, and who is still in the city, the grade teachers' section of the N. E. A. has asked that a special meeting be called at the next convention in order to discuss salaries, pensions and tenure. This meeting will be boosted through the columns of the Elementary Teacher, official organ of the National Teachers' association, published at Baltimore. Miss Mills says that many persons seem to have a mistaken idea regarding the official paper of the league and suppose that it is the Roston News letter.

Miss Mills is especially interested in the pension law.

In the coming meeting, as she was recently discharged from her position as Latin teacher in Wichita high school by the board of education, after having taught for eighteen years. She claims this was because she, as president of the Wichita Teachers' league, supported a movement for pensions. The teachers expect to make it impossible for the school board to dismiss for any political reason a teacher with a certain number of years' experience. They will also attempt to secure a uniform pension law for veteran teachers.
